Uploading Sleep Data to Your iCloud Account

Do I need this feature?

This feature is optional. It's necessary if you want to move your sleep data to a new device, if you accidentally delete Pillow and you want to restore your data, if your device is lost or if you want to access your sleep data from multiple devices.

What data will Pillow upload to iCloud?

If you enable this feature, Pillow will only upload sleep sessions and audio recordings. Pillow will not upload any data stored in Apple Health. All data uploaded is encrypted.

Pillow will try to synchronise the data stored locally on this device with the copy uploaded on your iCloud account. For example, if you delete a session on this device, Pillow will also delete the session from the copy uploaded on iCloud.
